Hello! China

Xi'an Travel Guidebook

Group Tours with Solo Adventure!

Xi'an, anciently known as Chang'an (meaning "eternal peace"), is the capital of Shaanxi Province and the biggest city in the northwest of China. It boasts a mild climate, fertile soil, beautiful scenery, abundant products, and numerous historical relics and sites.

Xi'an has a long history. An old saying in China tells the unique position of this legendary city: "If you want to see China of 100 years ago, visit Shanghai; China of 500 years ago, Beijing; China of 2000 years ago, Xi'an." During its 3,100 years of development, 12 dynasties, including the Western Zhou (1046 BC-771 BC), Qin (221 BC-206 BC), Western Han (206 BC-25 AD), and Tang (618-907), made their capitals here for over 1,100 years, leaving abundant legacies to the city.

During the Western Han and Tang dynasties, Xi'an was China's political, economic, cultural, and foreign exchange center, where people from all over the world lived in harmony. It was also the first stop on the Silk Road, linking up the oriental and western civilizations. The saying "In the east, there is Rome, in the west, Chang'an," best described the position of Xi'an at that time. Nowadays, Xi'an enjoys an equal fame with Athens, Cairo, and Rome as "one of the four major capitals of ancient civilization".

Xi'an is located in the warm temperate zone, enjoying a semi-humid continental monsoon climate. It has four distinct seasons and moderate climate. In summer, it's hot and very rainy; in winter, it's chilly and there is less snow and rain. In the periods of spring and autumn, rainy days last very long.

The annual average temperature of the city is 13.3°C. The highest temperature is about 40°C and the lowest temperature is about -8°C. The lowest temperature ranges from -16 to -20°C. The hottest month falls in July, with the monthly mean temperature ranging from 26.1 to 26.3°C. January is the coldest month of the year, with the monthly average temperature ranging from -0.3 to -1.3°C.

Avoid Peak Traveling Periods

The period from March to May when the blossoms are in full bloom and the period from September to November when the weather is pleasant are the best periods for visiting Xi'an.

Xi'an Attractions

It is strongly suggested that tourists should avoid peak traveling periods in China. The peak traveling periods include some traditional Chinese festivals, including New Year's Day (January 1st to 3rd), Spring Festival (late January or early February), May Day (May 1st to 3rd) and National Day holidays (October 1st to 7th).

The Museum of Terracotta Warriors and Horses is praised as "the eighth major miracle of the world". The Mausoleum of Emperor Qin Shi Huang is the first Chinese historical site listed on the World Heritage List. Famous places of historical figures and cultural heritage include the Museum of Terracotta Warriors and Horses, Mausoleum of Emperor Qin Shi Huang, Banpo Village Remains, the City Wall of the Ming Dynasty, the Forest of Stone Steles Museum, the Bell Tower, the Drum Tower, Huaqing Pool, and the Big Wild Goose Pagoda, and Small Wild Goose Pagoda.

The Neolithic Banpo Village Remains (approximately 7000 BC to 5000 BC) evidences early human activities in a matriarchal society. The Forest of Stone Steles Museum holds 3,000 stone steles of different periods, from the Western Han Dynasty (206 BC-25 AD) to the Qing Dynasty (1644-1912).

The natural landscape around Xi'an is also marvelous. Huashan Mountain, one of the five best-known mountains in China, is famous for its breathtaking cliffs and unique beauty.

Terracotta Warriors Museum

The Terracotta Warriors Museum is built on the excavation of pits of the Terracotta Warriors, which has become the symbol of Xian but also represents China. The Terracotta Warriors were placed in the burial pit for Qin Shihuang, the first emperor in China and it is about 1.5 km away from the tomb of Qin Shihuang.

The pit 1 was opened to public in October, 1979, and immediately attracted a huge amount of attention from the world. The pits contain many painstakingly made life-size figures made 2200 years ago. Bronze chariots and horses as well as the army of men in full battle dress not to be missed!

Xi'an City Wall

The Xi'an City Wall is located in the center of the City and has 4 gates. They are the Changle Gate (East Gate), An Ding Gate (West Gate), Yong Ning Gate (South Gate) and the An Yuan Gate (North Gate). Each Gate has a fortified watchtower. The wall was built in the Ming Dynasty from 1374-1378.

Walking on the City Wall is a great way to see the contrast of modern Xian with ancient city. The view of the city is especially good at sunrise and sunset. Biking on the City Wall could be a highlight and a cool experience and is very popular with foreign travelers. The wall is 13.7 km long in total.

Shaanxi Historical Provincial Museum

Many dynasties including the Zhou Dynasty, Qin Dynasty, the Han Dynasty and the Tang Dynasty has their capital in or around Xian and therefore Shaanxi History reflects Chinese history. Many historical and cultural relics are housed in Shaanxi Provincial History Museum and it is therefore an excellent place to see early Chinese history in a few hours.

The museum houses up to 370,000 relics, ranging from simple stoneware used in the ancient society to beautiful artworks and weapons. Delicate bronze ware from the Shang and Zhou Dynasties, vivid pottery men from many dynasties, gold and silver ware and tomb murals from the Tang Dynasty each tell their own piece of history. No wonder it is known as A Grand Hall of Chinese Civilization. 4 hours visit is recommended.

Big Wild Goose Pagoda

The Big Wild Goose Pagoda is in the Ci'en Temple, 4 kms from the city center. Built in 652 during the Tang Dynasty, it has witnessed much. The pagoda was built to house Sanskrit Buddhist scriptures which Buddhist scholar Xuan Zang brought back from India. The top of the pagoda provides a good view of the city. 2 hours would allow enough time for a good visit.

Behind the pagoda is a large musical fountain. It is especially spectacular at night with colorful lights enhancing the display. It has become one of top places for locals and travelers to spend a summer evening. The fountain performs at 12:30 pm and 8:30 pm on weekdays and every 2 hours from noon on weekends and public holidays.

Tomb of Emperor Jingdi (Hangyang Ling)

Jingdi(BC188-BC141) was the 4th emperor of the West Han Dynasty who had ruled for 17 years. His tomb is located in Xian Yang City near Xian and was built for him and his empress. It took 28 years to build the tomb from BC153-BC126. In recent years 18,000 relics have been unearthed which are of course of great significance. Most are on display. Han figurines and the tomb for prisoners are especially worthwhile for an understanding of the period.

Divided into several parts, the tomb now has become a museum with surrounding park. It is now the biggest museum in China. A full day is recommended.

Hang Palace Restaurant

Shangri-la may be facing intense competition in the market, but definitely it still remains on top for one good reason: it does everything in great taste. A perfect example is Shang Palace Restaurant, which is found in Shangri-la Golden Flower Hotel.. What matters most here is the food, and it is delicious. It offers two types of dishes, Sichuan and Cantonese. The latter will surely delight the taste buds of the Westerners since they are milder and have a more balanced taste.

- Address: Shangri-la Golden Flower Hotel, 8 Changle Xi Lu
- Operating Hours: 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. (lunch), 5:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. (dinner)

Tian Xiang Ge

This is another restaurant that can be found in Shangri-la, only this time we are talking about Shangri-la Hotel Xian. It features classic dim sum flavors, which a lot of foreigners are acquainted to, cooked using the freshest ingredients. The noodles used are made from scratch. The restaurant prepares a variety of China-based cuisines, though it also brings to spotlight the dishes that made Xian extremely popular. Some of the dishes to try are bitter melon complemented with egg yolk, braised beef topped over vermicelli and flavored with vinegar and chili sauce, and abalone cooked in a wok and spiced with chili.

- Address: Keji Road, Xian
- Operating Hours: 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. (lunch), 5:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. (dinner)

De Fa Chang Restaurant

Xian is highly defined by its bell tower and the square surrounding it. It is therefore one of the most visited places in the city. Fortunately, should you find yourself getting hungry from all the walking and the biking, you can just dine at De Fa Chang Restaurant. This is adored by the locals because it makes some of the best dumplings in the country. The small dumplings taste fresh and balanced. Moreover, the guests have the option to throw in some beers and cold salads to complete a meal. It is also possible to fill your hunger with soup composed of their lucky dumplings.

- Address: Pingan Market, Bell Tower Square
- Average Cost: CNY20
- Operating Hours: 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Lao Sun Jia Restaurant

Lao Sun Jia does not have the same contemporary or sophisticated flair that is offered by some of the biggest and popular restaurants in the city. Rather, it makes up for whatever it lacks in its aesthetic by giving the guests some of the most delicious dishes. This is the ultimate reason why people continue to come back here and why even if it is small customers do not mind waiting in queue for some time. It's a family-run restaurant that goes back to more than a hundred years. Some of the well-known dishes like the mutton spareribs that have been spiced are worth tasting. It is a great restaurant that serves Muslim food.

- Address: Dong Da Jie, Beilin District
- Average Cost: CNY 20

Tang Dynasty

There's no doubt that the Chinese love the arts. Their museums are filled not only with historical artifacts but also sculptures, paintings, lyrics, and other works of art that go back to hundreds of years ago. Even if new types of entertainment have arrived, some still try to maintain the old China glamour. One of these groups is the Tang Dynasty. Over the years, it has proven itself to be more than just a restaurant that serves prawns, fried rice, green tea, and rice wine. It has also been an entertainment hub where guests are treated to different shows while they dine. Guests can actually order a bundle, wherein the price already covers for the performance and the banquet.

- Address: Changan Road, Xian
- Average Cost: CNY 200
- Operating Hours: 8:30 p.m. to 9:40 p.m. (show)

Prosperity and Fortune Restaurant

Prosperity and Fortune Restaurant is one of the dining establishments in Xian that have achieved longevity and fame for a number of reasons. One it is strategically located. It is only within the city center and very close to the Bell Tower and Square, which are two of the most well-known attractions in the area and are thus frequently visited by tourists. It also serves very palatable dishes especially Muslim dishes. It is known for its shredded pancake flavored with broth from beef or mutton, which is called paomo. You can also order some glass noodles and pepper sauce with pickled garlic.

- Address: around the Bell Tower
- Average Cost: CNY 20
- Operating Hours: 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Orient Hotel Restaurant

One of the most reviewed restaurants in Xian, Orient Hotel Restaurant, as its name suggests, is the main dining establishment of the Orient Hotel. As you walk in, you can instantly feel the Chinese vibe with the choice of colors and furniture. This then makes you more prepared to taste what the master chefs have created for their guests on that day. Although they primarily serve Chinese dishes especially Shanghai and Cantonese, they also provide Western food, perhaps for the more discerning foreign guests. It's also a good venue for parties and other gatherings since it's broken to various dining halls.
